Sydney, March 20. 4338

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE COUNTIES OF ST. VINCENT AND AUCKLAND.
GENTLEMEN,—Captain Coghill having, before sailing for England, resigned his seat in the Legislative Council, I have been invited to offer myself as a Candidate for the honour of representing you, I therefore beg to solicit your support.
My opinions on most of the subjects which at present agitate the public mind are pretty well known, and I will therefore recapitulate them very briefly. I am decidedly opposed to District Councils, which appear to me un-English and oppressive, superfluous in those countries which can afford to pay for them, and ruinous in those which, like New South Wales, can not. I look upon the grinding exaction of quit-rents as a most discreditable perversion of the royal prerogative, and the high minimum price of land and exorbitant rent demanded for sections, as founded on a mistaken policy, which loses all by grasping at too much. I am friendly to the squatters, considering that upon their success alone can the prosperity of the agricultural interest be securely based. When in Council I endeavoured to promote that prosperity by preparing an address to Parliament, praying that the British market might be opened to the grain of this colony, as it has been to that of Canada; if this be done, a limit will be established below which the price of agricultural produce cannot fall. I am most anxious to carry out the retrenchment commenced in the public expenditure, and to obviate as far as it can be done by law, the difficulties of individuals. With this latter object, and also with a view of striking at a pernicious system of credit, I proposed the abolition of imprisonment for debt, by which I believe many persons have been saved from insolvency.
Should it be my fortune to represent you, I will take care, to the best of my power, that your district shall have its fair share of the very slender means of local improvement, which an expensive government and a falling revenue place at the disposal of the Council.
Before the day of election arrives I shall do myself the honour personally to solicit your suffrages
Till then, believe me, Gentlemen,
Your most obedient humble servant,
4240 ROBERT LOWE.

MR. BALMAIN, of the University of Glasgow, begs most respectfully to intimate to Parents and Guardians in New South Wales, that being about to form a SELECT CLASS for Boys, in a central part of the City of Sydney, to be under a Committee of Management, he will be happy to undertake the education of such children as may be committed to his care. Mr. B. would further intimate that during the last seven years in the colony he has been in the habit of instructing many respectable families, such as those of His Excellency Sir Maurice O'Connell, Colonel Mackenzie, Major Antill, Major Crummer, George Hobler, Esq., R.C. Gordon, Esq., John Buckland, Esq., Captain Kennedy, Captain Maclean, Principal Superintendent of the Hyde Park Barracks, &c., &c., from all of whom he has flattering testimonials of their approbation of his mode of tuition, and of the improvement which their children made under his charge. Towards the formation of this institution (so much wanted in Sydney) several gentlemen, of high standing in society, have voluntarily proffered their support, and will be happy on all occasions to co-operate with the Committee in devising and giving efficiency to whatever means may be thought necessary towards promoting its prosperity and ultimate success. The course of education to embrace whatever is necessary in the ordinary training of youth, the fees to be moderate, and the number of pupils in no case to exceed thirty. For further particulars, parents who are anxious to avail themselves of Mr. B.'s services will apply by letter addressed to the care of the Rev. Dr. M'Garvie,—or otherwise.
Mr. B. has, likewise, a few vacancies for Boarders, and gives private instructions.

Conveniently arranged, come a suite of rooms most agreeably disposed for library, petit salon, or dormant uses or accommodation—all totally independent of the kitchen, servants' room, cellarage, out offices and premises, &c.
THE GARDEN is cropped, well manured prolific of the best esculents, and also filled with almost every description of fine fruits, especially of the rarer kind, as "cherry and plum." The grounds are highly improved by a well placed and refreshing reservoir of water and the whole is contributive of all that judicious care and taste, which shews at once immense productiveness going "hand in hand" with the most agreeable ornamental appearances, and without imposing, now that all first cost is over, much expense on the pocket of the proprietor.

In fact, nothing can be more all in all in itself, for any merchant, professional man, or gentleman, whose occupation in town requires only an easy walk to daily office business—say in town by nine o'clock any morning across the park.

FOR LIVERPOOL.

Tryphena, brig, 131 tons, Hindmarsh; 40 tons copper ore, and 81 bales wool, on board.

Eliza, barque, 251 tons, Valrent; not commenced loading.

The barque Heroine has been chartered to load at Launceston for London; the brig Tobago will therefore bring on her cargo from Port Phillip to Sydney.

The barge Union, belonging to the Hunter River Steam Navigation Company, about which fears have been entertained for her safety, has put into Broken Bay all right, where she now remains wind bound. This vessel was being towed to Sydney by the Thistle, steamer, from which she parted in a heavy gale on Friday night, the 14th instant.

The Mary spoke the barque Arequipa going up Storm Bay as she was leaving Hobart Town; she left London on the 2nd December, with a general cargo. The schooner Phœbe had left Hobart Town for Port Adelaide with a cargo of horses. The cutter Black Swan sailed for Sydney the day before the Mary, the government having given up possession to the owner, Mr. Marsden.

The Success left New Zealand on a whaling expedition on the 18th Octoberlast, and having taken 144 barrels of sperm and 80 barrels of black oil, put into Twofold Bay, where she disposed of it. The motive of Captain M'Coy's coming on to Sydney was to obtain whaling gear and provisions for another cruise. The steamer Shamrock arrived at Twofold Bay on the 16th instant, and left for Port Phillip the same afternoon. The Lord Hobart was taking in cattle for Lagoon Bay. The Success saw the Edward off Jervis Bay last Friday evening.

The Challenger left Glasgow on the 15th June, 1844, since which she has been in China, discharged a cargo, and brought another to Sydney, (consisting of 2700 chests tea), having completed the voyage in a little more than nine months. The only vessel reported by her is the Hobart Town whaler Lady Mary Pelham, off the Dromedary on Saturday evening last—quantity of oil not known.

The schooners Providence and Swan were waiting at the bar of the Clarence for a fair wind to come on to Sydney, when the William the Fourth left there.

The Spy has 1000 chests of chests on board. She saw nothing on the passage down, but the Maid of Athens had left Hongkong for Sydney before her

The whaler signalled to the southward yesterday was standing off the land when the steamer Rose entered the Heads at 9 P.M.

CEREBRAL PHYSIOLOGY.

THE Atlas having shown that it was ashamed of (or afraid to acknowledge) the doctrines of the Zoist, which it had so prominently put forward, we intended to have let the matter drop for the present; but on Saturday last, when paying a compliment to Mr. Justice DICKINSON, the Atlas goes out of its way to attack Mr. Justice BURTON for having made the "trial of a murderer the thesis for a lecture on polemical divinity." We take the liberty of denouncing this as a misrepresentation—we fear, a wilful one. The reference is, evidently, to the case of KNATCHBULL, in which, for the first time in this colony, were broached the doctrines afterwards put forward more elaborately by the Zoist. In putting the case to the Jury, Mr. Justice BURTON, as he was bound to do, showed them that the arguments of Mr. LOWE for the prisoner were as contrary to Scripture and reason as they were opposed to law. And this, which HIS HONOR was bound to do in the strict performance of his duty, the writer in the Atlas has the effrontery to call making a trial for murder a thesis on polemical divinity! But this is not the first time Mr. Justice BURTON has been subjected to unjust remarks on account of his conduct on that trial. The promptitude with which he met the specious arguments of Mr. LOWE have never been forgiven; although HIS HONOR's character stands so high that he can afford to look down with contempt upon these futile attempts to injure his fair fame. Let us hope that, whenever an attempt is made in the Supreme Court to promulgate doctrines opposed to the first principles of Christianity, we may always have on the bench a Judge as ready and as able to expose their infidel tendency as Mr. Justice BURTON.

VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

THE news by the late arrivals from Van Diemen's Land may be summed up in a very few words. Great disgust at the prospect of convict inundation which threatens to overwhelm the whole island; excessive indignation at the conduct of the Legislative Council in consenting to levy additional taxes, rendered necessary by expenditure which is essentially Imperial in its objects, and great commercial embarrassment. There is no community on the face of the earth more deserving of commisseration than our southern neighbours; they are literally bound hand and foot, by the decrees of Downing-street.

SWAN RIVER.

OUR Perth newspapers contain little news of general interest. The colony appears to progress but very slowly; but the settlers appear to be comfortable and contented. The stock is increasing so rapidly that, as no immigrants arrive to purchase the supplus, it has become necessary to boil down sheep for the tallow; several experiments had been made which were very satisfactory. Some attention is being paid to ship-building, several small vessels having been built, which are spoken highly of. Governor HUTT it was reported had resigned, but to the date of their latest English news no successor had been appointed. Great indignation appears to have been excited in consequence of Mr. OWEN, a resident of South Australia, having procured a number of labouring men to proceed from Swan River to Adelaide. South Australia is designated "that sand hole," and Mr. OWEN is denounced as a "trafficker in human flesh." The labour market is sure to find its own level, and whenever wages are higher in Western than in South Australia, the tide of emigration will set the other way. Three years ago labourers went from Sydney to New Zealand, now they come from New Zealand to Sydney, and should the land question be settled, and an influx of capital into New Zealand take place, next year will probably see some of them going back again.

MAURITIUS.

A FEW Mauritius papers have come to hand, but they contain no intelligence of importance. The latest date is the 20th January. We learn that the number of immigrants arrived at Port Louis, from India, from 1st February, 1844, to 4th January, 1845, was 6827; the Indian Government having limited the number to 6000 per annum, the Mauritians were consequently considerably in advance. It is stated that during the year 1844, the number of deaths in Port Louis has been much greater than in former years; the number of deaths is given at 3065, of births at 1557; the amount of population being roughly stated at 20,000.

NEW INSOLVENT.—The following estate was sequestrated on Saturday, viz.: Thomas Collins, of Rushcutter's Bay, South Head Road, Publican. Debts, £177 3s. 6d. Assets—Personal property, £24 10s. Outstanding debts, £6 4s. 3d.; balance deficiency, £146 9s. 3d. John Walker, Official Assignee.

CULTIVATION OF THE ALMOND.—We are surprised that the colonists do not turn their attention more to the cultivation of this valuable fruit. The soft-shelled almond is worth in London about 9d per lb. wholesale. This is not the species most abundant in the colony, but there are several trees of this kind at Guildford, in the gardens of R. G. Meares, Esq., (late 2nd Life Guards), who has been always conspicuous for his zeal in promoting the horticultural interests of the colony. One important advantage of this fruit seems to be, that it requires neither care of cultivation, nor excellence of soil to produce it in perfection; but, on the contrary, it appears to prefer the arid soil of Perth to the rich uplands of the Swan. The shores of both sides of the Mediterranean Sea are the native habitation of these fruit-trees; the climate of which, though in some respects resembling our own, is inferior to it, on the whole by reason of the greater alternations of heat and cold. The attention of the public has been frequently drawn, through the medium of this journal, to the advantage to be derived by the agriculturist from judicious planting. Numerous and excellent as are the qualities of our native trees, it cannot be denied that they may be advantageously superseded by the umbrageous fruit-trees of the northern hemisphere. The importance of shelter, both from sun and wind, has been too much disregarded in this colony; and we are convinced, that great as would be the improvement of our farms in appearance by the general adoption in our hedge-rows of the almond and olive, it would be trifling in comparison with the benefits which would result to the crops. But when we reflect that every tree, after a few years' growth, may be calculated to produce a clear annual rental of at least twenty shillings to the fortunate owner, the surprise which we expressed at the commencement of this article is doubled. Almond-trees are easily propagated either by planting slips, or by budding on their own or on plum-stocks.—Perth Inquirer.

SOURCE OF THE YARRA.—From a gentleman who has lately traced this river to its source, we learn the following particulars. The Yarra rises in a gully between the Snowy Mountains and one of the Goulburn Mountains, about 100 miles distant, as the crow flies, and commences to flow from the south-east, from which direction its numerous tributaries also flow. The spring (the river's source) is so small, that it could run through a four inch pipe. It is fed, about midway on the south side, by six tributaries, and four or five on the north side; they are situate, upon an average, about three or four miles apart. After each tributary, the size of the river decreases considerably. These branch streams rise in the gullies adjacent, and some of them are of considerable magnitude. Our informant (Mr. Walpole) describes the country beyond Rirey's station, as one mass of scrub. With one of Mr. Protector Thomas's sons, Mr. Walpole left Rirey's station some three weeks since, on horseback, but found it impossible to make any progress, not only from the density of the scrub, but the utter absence of vegetation or any feed for the horses—they accordingly had to retrace their steps, and leave the horses behind them; they a second time started, on foot, and walked for five days in the bed of the river. In this course they had often to climb a height of forty feet, over dead trees, which had fallen in great numbers across the river from either bank, forming a complete barricade, the stream finding its way through the interstices. Gum, iron bark, and other timber, have here grown to an extent, in altitude and circumference, unseen in any other portion of this province, while many of the plants indigenous to tropical climates, have been discovered, and amongst others, a shrub in every particular resembling the coffee plant, with the large red berry, the size of a cherry, which, being exposed to the sun, becomes quite hard and black; also a large aromatic berry, bearing every resemblance in appearance and taste, to the black pepper berry, but with a flavour as pungent as Cayenne. From these indications, there can be little doubt but that innumerable tropical fruits of this description cover the face of the interior of this continent. The sassafras and musk plants exist in great abundance. The land is described as being of the richest quality, and abundantly watered, but of open country scarcely one square yard was visible. The river, the whole way up, is as clear as crystal, and, where not covered with dead trees, a clear pebbly and rocky bottom is easily distinguishable. About seventeen miles from the source, an abundance of good slate exists, and will split into plates of an eight of an inch in thickness. The only birds seen, were pheasants, and in great multitudes. No recent tracks of the natives were discovered, but a few barked trees leading from Gipps' Land to one of the tributaries, were observed a few miles below the source of the river; they appeared to have been barked some three or four years back. The Yarra is described as singularly tortuous; at one point running for two or three miles direct south, and then to an equal distance, full north. Mr. Hoddle's surveying party of seven men are about sixty miles from Melbourne, and forty from the source. They have been already four months at the work, and have but six weeks to terminate their labours, as the term of the men's agreement for service then expires; their progress at present is extremely slow, while the want of fodder for the cattle is one of the most distressing drawbacks. In the winter months nothing can be done, and the short sighted policy of despatching so small a party upon such a harassing expedition, to say nothing of the waste of the public money, must be obvious to all.—Melbourne Standard.

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE, NEW ZEALAND.—Two years have scarcely elapsed since the foundation of this excellent institution, and already we have some of the fruits of the system apparent, which put to shame the abortive exertions of our own Government. From a copy which we have seen of "The Calendar of St John's College, New Zealand, corrected to July 24th, 1844; Waimati, printed at the College Press," we gather that the Bishop of New Zealand is the visitor, and his examining chaplain presides over the studies of the college. The divinity lectureship was adorned by the rare and brilliant talents of the Rev. T. Whytehead, previously to his lamented decease. Many are already familiar with his distinguished university career at Cambridge, in which, as first Chancellor's medallist, he eclipsed every classical competitor of his year; and with the noble self-devotion which led him to follow the fortunes of the first missionary ship of New Zealand, whose examining Chaplain he was. His early death has left a blank upon the annals of the infant Church which all must deplore. Four ordinations had already taken place of students from this College; and nine candidates, who were in course of preparation last July, have since been likewise ordained. Though designed principally for candidates for holy orders, the College is open to all other students. All members of the body are expected to devote themselves, during the intervals of study, to some useful employment, in furtherance of the general purposes of the institution. The expense of tuition, commons, and attendance, does not exceed £30 per annum. There are two scholarships in the Bishop's gift, for those who are unable to defray the above-mentioned expenses. The original sum which formed the foundation estate of the College was, we believe, £5000, which has since been increased by donations and bequests. A collegiate school is attached to the College, under the charge of the Rev. W. C. Cotton, M.A., student of Christ Church, Oxford, and formerly of Eton. Fourteen scholars have already entered. The general plan of education is similar to that of an English public school. The vacation begins November 1, and ends February 28. The expense of tuition, commons, and attendance, does not exceed £25 a-year. Not only is there provision made, however, for an education suited to the wants of the most advanced civilization, conducted on the English public school system—but a second subsidiary institution appears to have been formed, viz., the St. John's Native Teacher's School, for the especial advantage of the natives. Three classes are admitted into this institution. No teacher is admissible into the first class who does not pledge himself to adopt the English habits and wear English clothes, and above all, to be regular at church and school. The second class is composed of those who are candidates for admission into the first. The third class consists of those who wish to learn English, but have not yet made up their minds to give up native habits. Between 40 and 50 natives have voluntarily connected themselves with this school. But the beneficent organization of St. John's College does not cease here. We have an infant native school, with the names of from thirty to forty New Zealand children of both sexes, recorded upon a separate page of the "St. John's College Calendar;" and a native boys' school, where about twenty-two boys are boarded and clothed, and instructed in English, arithmetic, writing, and singing. We also observe that preparations are being made for a system of industrial employments, by which it is hoped the whole native establishment will ultimately be clothed and fed. This valuable institution has lately been removed from Waimati to a place in the neighbourhood of Auckland, called Bishop's Auckland, where it will have the advantage of being established on its own lands.—Hobart Town Courier.

A CAB CASE.—About one o'clock on Tuesday last, Mr. H. Thomas, undertaker, Clarence-street, sent one of his private carriages in charge of his son to the Brickfield-hill for Mrs Thomas, when nearly opposite the Market-sheds, George street, the driver of cab No. 32, who was passing in a contrary direction, drove his cab right in the way of the carriage, and commenced applying his whip to the mare in it, telling the lad that he did so for the purpose of making his father employ a man as a driver. Mr T. subsequently applied to the cabman, named John Newman, to ascertain the reason why he had acted in the manner he had done, when all the satisfaction he received was abuse, and a threat the next time he (Newman) met the boy he would repeat the conduct complained of. Newman was brought before the Police Court by summons on Saturday, when his only defence was, that Thomas's carriages sometimes took their place on the stand as if they had a license. The Bench found the charge proved, and fined the defendant 20s., with costs, or ten days in gaol.

VAN DIEMEN'S LAND GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS.—From the official returns in the Van Diemen's Land journals, we find that the prices at which contracts for the supply of provisions have been entered into are as follows: fresh meat, 2 4-16d. to 1 4-16d. per lb.; bread, 1½d. to 1 11-16d. per lb.; flour, £5 5s to £8 10s. per ton; salt pork, 4d. to 5d. per lb.; vegetables, 2s. 7d. to 8s 11½d per 100 lbs.; oatmeal, 2¼d. per pint; new milk, 4-16d. to ½d.; firewood, 2½d. per cwt.; brushwood, 4d per cwt The contract for grinding and dressing has been taken by Mr. Burt, of the Macquarie Mills, at the rate of 2½d. per 100 lbs.

ROBBERY OF THE COMMISSARIAT STORES.—About three weeks ago, a box was lodged in the Commissariat Stores, addressed to Captain Blackwood, of H.M.S. Fly,; the box has since been broken open, from which a chronometer and two gold keys attached to it by a piece of leather, have been abstracted. Three convicts named Alexander Toole, Stephen Connell, and — O'Brien, have been apprehended; but as yet no clue to the recovery of the property has been obtained.

HORSE STEALING.—About three months ago nineteen horses were stolen from Mr. Boucher's station, at Manero, and on Saturday last as Mr. B. was passing along George-street, he discovered one of the horses in the possession of a man named Joy, who stated he had purchased it from another man, Joy was given into custody, but as there is reason to believe his statement to be true, he was admitted to bail till further enquiry be made.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—Will you oblige by inserting the following?—I am a mason by trade, and have lately finished a head-stone for a grave, with five inscriptions upon it; and on applying for permission to erect it in the Protestant burial-ground, have been asked the very novel and extraordinary charge of ten shillings for each inscription! According to a colonial Act of 1837, a fee of ten shillings is charged for the right of erecting each head-stone and each foot-stone; but I never yet heard of such a construction being placed upon the words of the Act as to authorise such a charge as is now attempted to be made. I shall feel obliged by your giving me your opinion of the Act, as it is a point of considerable importance.

I remain, gentlemen, yours, very obediently

A STONEMASON.

Surry Hills, March 20.

[The schedule of the Act says, ten shillings for each stone, and has no reference whatever to the inscriptions on it: and therefore we think that ten shillings is all that is chargeable. For a vault, there is a charge for each person it will contain, which shows that a distinction was intended.—EDS.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald

GENTLEMEN,—One of the rules of your new hospital is sufficiently absurd, and is evidently proposed by a person having a friend who is a graduate of a British College, and who is not a member of a Royal College of Surgeons, or in other words, one who has a degree and no diploma. It is that "all the physicians and surgeons to be elected shall be graduates of a British University." Now, a degree is given for a knowledge of medicine, but has nothing to do with surgery, while a surgeon's diploma is given for a knowledge of both. But more, all foreign degrees (except Heidelburgh, which is sold), require four years (at least) at a University, while it is only required for all Scottish ones, that you study three years, and but one course of each class is required; at Glasgow four years study is necessary. All this and much more important information for the public may be obtained from the Medical Almanac. An apothecary's diploma of London is far before a degree of a Scottish University, for their five years' study is required, and two courses of every branch, besides some things being necessary which are not in a Scottish college.

By Sir James Graham's new Act, one having a diploma from a College of Surgeons, and being of the Apothecaries' Society, is to be registered as a Physician, while a person having a degree is only to be as a Physician. Persons who have taken a degree are every year in numbers rejected from the Apothecary's Diploma. It was wrong to style that body the Society of Apothecaries, it should have been called the Society of Physicians. It is to be hoped some one will take care not to allow the regulation I have first alluded to, to stand as it is.

Yours, respectfully,

NON MEDICUS.

[ADVERTISEMENT.]

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—A long letter having appeared in your publication of the 11th instant, inserted as an advertisement, and signed Gilbert Wright, permit me, through the columns of your impartial journal, to correct the erroneous statements this letter contains; in doing so, my desire is that truth may prevail, a commodity of which Mr. Wright appears so strictly an economist.

Mr. Wright commences his letter with an anxiety to endeavour to disabuse the minds of his friends and the Australian public of his having been guilty of an "atrocious indecorum" and "monstrous contempt," in causing six magistrates of the Bathurst Bench to expel him the Court of Petty Sessions; he also entertains fears, that if the cause of his expulsion remains unexplained for six long months, until the facts can be fairly elucidated in a Court of Justice, that his professional reputation will in the mean time suffer; how far he will have succeeded in his object after my statement of the facts, remains with the public to decide. I must, however, beg to assure this specious advocate of Petty Sessions that his professional reputation can sustain no damage, for he has already sought so diligently, and secured to himself a notoriety so enviable, particularly in his profound knowledge of the law of libel, and his lucid interpretation of the 'Amended Insolvent Act," as to fix him at once and for ever upon the very pinnacle of fame.

Lieutenant Seymour and Mr White, entered into partnership some months since, they are engaged in agricultural and grazing pursuits, upon an establishment at Bathampton, near Bathurst.

Mr. Wright's object in designating Mr. White as Mr. Seymour's superintendent, knowing as he does to the contrary will be clearly seen, by reading that paragraph of his letter commencing "The case therefore stands thus."

Henry Lewis, a hired ticket-of-leave holder, was prosecuted at the Bathurst Police Office, conjointly by Messrs. Seymour and White, for "disorderly conduct," for threatening to run the latter gentleman through with a pitch-fork, and other subsequent acts of insubordination on their establishment; he was found guilty, and sentenced to fourteen days' confinement in the cells upon bread and water, by a Bench of six magistrates; he was not tried, as Mr. Wright states, for "disobedience of orders and neglect of duty," although, I believe, the warrant of committal is so made out, a mistake which the Clerk of the Bench acknowledges to be entirely his own; and which Wright, the attorney, takes advantage of to give some colouring of truth to his partial and one-sided story. The deposition book in the Police Office will confirm this particular.

During the trial of Henry Lewis, Mr. Wright, at the close of the proceedings, came into Court and claimed to appear professionally for the prisoner; he demanded that not only Mr. White's deposition should be read over by the Clerk, but, also, Mr. Seymour's, who had previously been examined; the Bench declined to re-open the case, and decided not to hear Mr. Wright; he was contumacious, and persisted in interrupting the Court by demanding the Clerk to read the depositions, and stating that he would not desist until he was turned out of Court, the Bench found it necessary to order a constable to remove him. The deputy chief constable, Armstrong, requested Mr. Wright to retire, he walked to the door, and returned evidently much excited, and insisted upon Armstrong laying hold of his arm and accompanying him to the door, the constable obliged him by humouring his strange whim, to the great amusement of all present. These are the facts of Mr Wright's, (as he terms it "illegal and foolish" expulsion from the Court, and for which he has brought six actions against the six magistrates on the

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE OF VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

THE Hobart Town Courier of the 6th instant, contains the Report of a Committee, appointed by His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor of Van Diemen's Land, to examine and report upon the state of the finances in that colony, with a view to the decrease of the expenditure and the increase of the revenue, and on whose recommendation the late increase was made in the duties. The report contains a very lengthened and elaborate investigation into the subject which the Committee was appointed to scrutinise, and is altogether a very interesting document, as affording a complete view of the financial position of the sister colony. We therefore give a brief abstract of it for the information of our readers.

The decrease of the revenue being looked upon as the principal cause of the difficulties experienced by the colony, the Committee has proceeded, in the first instance, to ascertain in what branches this deficiency occurs—the cause of such deficiency, and the time when it first commenced. Pursuing this enquiry, they find that in 1840 the revenue was at its maximum, and that from that year until the present time it has been rapidly declining. On comparing the Customs receipts of the present year with those of 1840, there is found to be a decrease in the item of spirits alone to the extent of £21,867; in ad valorem duties there is a decrease of £7,673, and in port and other charges there is a decrease of £3,496, while in tobacco there is an excess of £2000; altogether there is a falling off from the ordinary revenue of 1840 to the extent of £23,682. The falling off in the duties upon spirits is attributed by the committee to the progress of smuggling and illicit distillation; and the decrease of port dues, ad valorem duties, &c., to the progressive depression of the colony, which, for some years past, has afforded less and less encouragement to commercial enterprise. It is thought, however, that the mode of levying the ad valorem duties is susceptible of great improvement, for having consulted with the law officers as to the construction of the Act under which these duties are imposed, they are of opinion that a considerable increase might be effected if the amount of the duties was made dependent upon the value of the articles at the place of import instead of the place of export as heretofore. The Committee is also of opinion that the rate of duty might be raised from five per cent. (as at present) to ten per cent., by which means there would in all probability be an addition to the revenue of five or six thousand pounds.

The Committee freely admits the impracticability of establishing a regularly organized Excise Department like that of the mother country, and are therefore of opinion that the duty of preventing illicit distillation must be left to the police. As the best means of aiding that body in the fulfillment of that part of their duty, the Committee recommends the appointment in each district of two persons (not prisoners of the Crown) at a daily rate of from 2s. 6d. to 3s., to act under the directions of the resident stipendiary magistrate, and to traverse their district in every direction for the purpose of collecting information. It is likewise recommended that a law be passed declaring illicit distillation a misdemeanor, and that a reward not exceeding £10 be paid to free persons for the discovery of every still, while a certain degree of indulgence is extended to prisoners of the Crown, performing a similar service.

The policy recently pursued by the Government in New Zealand, of relieving the trade to that colony from all restrictions, is looked upon by the Committee as opening great facilities for smuggling in and about the ports of Australia, in consequence of the salutary check of the Custom House clearance, being in this instance removed, whereby the masters of vessels from New Zealand are enabled to land their cargo, when and where they please, without risk of detection at the place of destination as heretofore. To this cause and to the absence of any particular class of officers whose duty it is to act as a preventive force, the increase of smuggling is mainly attributed; and the Committee recommends, with the view of checking the evil, that a small marine force, consisting at least of one boat and crew at each of the principal ports of the colony, should be established as a preventive force in connexion with the colonial police. One of the Committee however (Mr. Barnes) dissents from this recommendation, being of opinion that the boats would prove inefficient, and that a small revenue cruiser would be the best means to employ.

The Committee inclines to the opinion that the low duties hitherto imposed upon spirits distilled in the colony, has not been productive of so much advantage to the settlers as was anticipated: for the greater part of the spirits so distilled, instead of being manufactured from grain grown in the colony, have been made from New South Wales maize, and damaged Mauritius sugar, and have been sold, not in their true character as colonial spirits, but in the assumed character of imported spirits. Instead, therefore, of affording additional encouragement to colonial distillation, the Committee recommends that the duty upon imported spirits should be increased so as to amount to a prohibition: for although this course might be productive of injury to the revenue, they are of opinion that such injury would be more than counterbalanced by the good effects which would arise from such a measure to the community at large.

It is not anticipated that the result of the proposed improvements will be to effect a greater increase to the revenue than about £10,000 for the first year, although no doubt is expressed that the ultimate amount of benefit would be much greater. All the Committee, therefore, with the exception of Mr. Barnes, concurred in recommending that direct taxation should to a certain extent be resorted to. The latter gentleman, however, is of opinion that nothing beyond indirect taxation should be adopted, and that even this should not be increased without every possible reduction in the Public Establishments consistent with their efficiency being first made.

With reference to a proposed stamp duty, the report contains the following paragraph :—"We collect from returns received from the Banking establishments, made up to the 30th September, that the sum due by the public to them, secured either by mortgages, bonds, bills of exchange, or by promissory notes, amounts to £1,187,771. Now, taking £900,000 of this sum to consist of Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes, and the average of these Bills at £30, which is stated to us to be a fair average, a stamp duty of two shillings upon each, allowing one half to be in Bills of Exchange drawn at three months, and the other half in equal proportions of four and six months, would yield a revenue of upwards of £9000. It would be difficult, if not impossible, to make an estimate of the amount of Bills of Exchange, held by private individuals or of Bonds, Mortgages, and other money securities in the colony; but a duty upon Bank-notes, computed upon the present circulation of £53,562, at 6d. for every pound, would, in the first instance, fal littlel short of £900."

The Report goes on to recommend the imposition of a Dog Tax, distinguishing in amount between those which are kept for the protection of property, and those which are kept for other purposes; as the number these animals has, it is said, so greatly increased that they are become, in some parts of the colony, a perfect nuisance. Upon the former kind of dogs an annual fee of 2s. 6d is recommended, and upon the latter an annual fee of 10s.

It is likewise suggested that the principle of licensing may be extended to cases where it has not hitherto been made to apply, and the following licensing charges are recommended.

	£
Lodging and Eating Houses, which supply wines and spirits	25 each
Billiard Tables	10
Dealers in Gunpowder	10
Brewers of Malt Liquor for sale	25
Horse Dealers	10

In cases where licenses are at present taken out, it is recommended that the charges be increased to the following amounts :—

	£
Wholesale and Retail Butchers, and to slaughter	25
Retail Butchers	10
Hawkers and Pedlars	10
To retail Wine, Spirits, and Beer, in Hobart Town and Launceston	50

The probable additions to the revenue by the means already recapitulated are estimated by the committee as follows :—

	£
Ad valorem Duties	5,000
Putting down Illicit Distillation	10,000
Stamps on Bills of Exchange.....	10,000
Ditto on Bank Notes	900
Ditto on Bonds, Mortgages, and other securities	2,000
Licenses on Dogs.....	500
Ditto on Lodging-houses, Eating-houses, Billiard-tables, Dealers in Gunpowder, Brewers of Malt Liquors, Butchers, Hawkers and Pedlars, and to retail wines and spirits and beer in Hobart Town and Launceston	5,000
	£33,200

After alluding to a proposition which had been made for raising the necessary funds for immediate use by debentures, the report goes on to state, that although such a scheme might not be ineligible where the prospects of payment were certain, it is very doubtful how far the Government would be justified in creating a debt as long as the slightest doubt existed of their future ability to pay, which must be the case in the present instance, inasmuch as the financial improvement looked forward to by the Committee must at all events be very gradual.

The Committee next proceeds to review the Estimates for the ensuing twelve months with the view of ascertaining whether some saving of expenditure may not be effected. A discussion had taken place relative to the propriety of altogether abolishing some of the leading colonial offices; but this subject is pronounced by the Committee to be beyond the scope of its instruction, and no opinion upon the point is therefore given. No further reductions than those already made by the Governor can it is thought be effected with safety either in the Council Establishment, or in the Colonial Treasury. The recent separation of Convict from Colonial expenditure has been the means, it is stated, of considerably increasing the latter, and has in particular involved an indispensable addition to the expenses of the Stores Department; but with reference to the Colonial Marine, which has likewise been affected by this change, reductions are recommended which will effect a saving (independently of rations to the men employed) of £606. The Customs and Post Office departments are passed over as being subject to the control of the heads of those establishments in England; but it is thought that in consequence of the late increase in smuggling and illicit distillation, the former will not admit of reduction. The Inspectors of Cattle for the interior who create a charge upon the colony of £279, may, it is thought, be wholly dispensed with; but, after going at great length into the subject of Police, the Committee inclines to the opinion that very little reduction can be made in that branch of the public service without impairing its efficiency, and in proof of this they call the attention of the Lieutenant-Governor, to the extended nature of the duties which is imposed on the police by the presence of the convict establishment. It is likewise thought that the Colonial Revenue is unfairly charged with the whole expense of providing religious instruction for the convict population, and it is pointed out that many of the clergymen paid from colonial funds, particularly those of the Roman Catholic and Wesleyan persuasions perform much duty that should be paid for as a part of the convict expenses of the colony. The only other item of expenditure upon which it is thought a saving may be effected, is the Aboriginal Establishment, and as the number of the blacks which at present form a charge upon that establishment has of late been much reduced, (amounting now to only fifty-seven persons,) it is thought that they might without danger be brought back to Van Diemen's Land.

Attached to the Report is a memorandum, to the effect that the Committee was prepared to submit a proposition for reducing the expenses of the Survey Department, grounded upon the opinion of the Surveyor-General himself, but had refrained from doing so on account of that department being made by Act of Parliament a charge upon the proceeds of the sales of land, so that in going into the subject it was thought that the Committee would be travelling beyond His Exellency's instructions.

ST. VINCENT AND AUCKLAND ELECTION.—His Excellency the Governor directs it to be notified, for general information, that John Coghill, Esq., having in due form resigned his seat in the Legislative Council for the electoral district of the united southern counties of St. Vincent and Auckland, a writ has been issued for the election of a member to serve in the Legislative Council for the said district, during the continuance of the present Council; and that the following arrangement has been made for the said election, viz.:—Chief polling place, or place of nomination, Braidwood; day of nomination, 15th April, 1845; polling day, 21st April, 1845; return of writ, 29th April, 1845. —Friday's Government Gazette.

APPOINTMENT.—His Excellency the Governor has appointed Robert Williams Pohlman, Esq., barrister-at-law, to be Chief Commissioner for Insolvent Estates, for the district of Port Phillip.

THE WOOL MARKET.—There is not that firmness in the market, or anxiety to purchase, that there was a few weeks since: and the consequence has been that prices, particularly of low qualities, have given way—as much as 1½d. per lb in some instances—besides more trouble in disposing of them. Good wools have also receded a little, but are still enquired after; all accounts from England agreeing that fine sorts will not be lower, while, from the results of the October sales, this has been the case in all coarse descriptions.

LUNACY.—On Saturday, an inquisition was held at Mr. Driver's, corner of King and Elizabeth streets, in virtue of a commission, de lunatico inquirendo, addressed to John Gordon and Edward Broadhurst, barristers-at-law, and William Dawson, doctor of medicine, to enquire into the state of mind of James Tod Goodsir, Esq., A.C.G. The commission had been issued at the instance of Mrs. Anne Goodsir, wife of the alleged lunatic. A jury consisting of fifteen was sworn in The witnesses brought forward were, first, a servant of Mr. Goodsir, who had been in his service for upwards of eight years; from his evidence it appeared that in February, 1844, Mr. Goodsir left Sydney to proceed to the Mauritius; the witness accompanied him; on the voyage thither, Mr. Goodsir had a fit, from which, however, he recovered, and attended to the duties of his office on his arrival at the Mauritius up to the 1st July, 1844, when he had another attack, after which he almost completely lost the power of speech; his memory appeared to be gone, and he could not carry on any conversation; becoming in fact imbecile, in which state he now remained. Dr. Bland, who had known Mr. Goodsir for fifteen or sixteen years, deposed that he had recently visited him, in company with Dr. Wallace; he found that Mr. Goodsir had lost all power of expression; was in a state of fatuity; he did not consider him capable of managing his affairs; he believed that there was serious organic disease of the brain. Dr. Wallace gave evidence to the same effect; in addition he stated that having been Mr. Goodsir's medical attendant, he had occasion to see him before he left for the Mauritius; he had, in consequence of the enfeebled state of Mr. Goodsir's mind, and his bad state of health, intimated to Mr. Miller, who was then at the head of the department, that it would be desirable that a board of inquiry should be called to ascertain whether Mr. Goodsir was in a fit state to proceed to undertake the duties of the office to which he was appointed. Mr. Goodsir improved, however, and the enquiry was not held Mr. Goodsir was at present imbecile, and not capable of managing his affairs; he, Dr. Wallace, believed that there was organic disease of the brain, or of some of its membranes. Mr. Goodsir was brought into the room, and some questions were put to him, but no connected answers were given; he appeared wholly unconscious of the nature of the proceedings which were going on. After some further evidence, which afforded, however, no new feature, the Jury returned a verdict that James Tod Goodsir was of unsound mind, and had been so since the 1st July, 1844.

CHURCHWARDENS.—To-morrow, being Easter Tuesday, is the day fixed by the Church of England Temporalities Act, for the election of Churchwardens.

TEETOTALLERS TEA PARTY.—There are placards posted, intimating that a tea party will take place to-night, under the management of the St. Patrick's Total Abstinence Society, for the purpose of opening the St. Patrick's Total Abstinence Hall, Church Hill.

CAMPERDOWN BUILDING ALLOTMENTS.—The sale of 212 allotments of the celebrated Camperdown Estate, on the Parramatta and Camperdown Roads, takes place, this day, by Mr. Samuel Lyons, on the ground, at 12 o'clock. The sale will be without the least reserve, parties, therefore, wishing to buy valuable ground in the direct vicinity of the city, will do well to attend this sale.—Communicated.

NORFOLK ISLAND.—Some faint idea of the state of society at this place and the penal discipline enforced there may be gathered by the following extract from a letter just received in the province; the writer resides on the spot. He says—"this island is really not worth staying upon any longer, the prisoners are more insubordinate than ever. They are sending the very worst characters here from Port Arthur. Forty-four of the greatest desperadoes in the world, Cash among the rest, arrived by the last brig, and sixteen of them are committed to take their trial for an attempt to take the vessel. They had cut a hole through the prison deck, slipped off their irons, and got aft under Captain Boyle's cabin, with the express determination of murdering all on board, including the guard and crew. Fourteen others ran away with a large launch while the Agincourt was here the other day, after throwing the guard overboard and nearly drowning them; they were, however, brought back again. Some attempted to rob the Rev. Mr. Ison's house, at Cascade, this day week. They wore masks, and "bailed up" the ladies, but were alarmed and made off before any robbery could be effected. The night before last some of the brig desperadoes tried to get out of gaol, when the sentry fired and hit one fellow in the forehead, but unfortunately did not kill him. These are only a trifling number compared with the outrages that are constantly occurring, but in which you cannot feel much interested. There is not half enough severity and firmness used towards them by the Commandant."—Port Phillip Herald.

INSPECTOR OF DISTILLERIES.—His Excellency the Governor has appointed Mr. John Sullivan, chief constable, Paterson, to be an Inspector of Distilleries, in and for the district of Newcastle.

SALE CONTINUED.—Parties interested in the purchase of capital building ground on the Petersham Estate, are respectfully reminded that the sale of the Village of Petersham, in most advantageous sized allotments, will be resumed by Mr. Stubbs, at 12 o'clock precisely, To-morrow, Tuesday, the 25th instant. The lots will commence on the Canterbury Road.—Communicated.

ILLICIT DISTILLATION.—On Saturday, Mr. Joseph Pye, junior, was sentenced by the Parramatta Bench to pay a fine of £125, for keeping and having a still, without being duly licensed.

INQUEST.—On Saturday afternoon, an enquiry took place before the Coroner and a jury in Le Burn's public house, touching the body of an infant which had been found in the Roman Catholic Burial Ground. The evidence adduced was in substance as follows: Richard Brennan, keeper of the Burial Ground, found the body, viewed by the jury, in a small box, about six inches under ground, it had not been buried in the usual way, nor had witness any certificate of its being buried, it must have been interred secretly Dr. Tierney had made a post mortem examination of the body of a male infant lying in the Roman Catholic Burial Ground, and from the appearances was of opinion that it was still-born, to which effect the jury returned a verdict.

BURGLARY.—About eight o'clock, on Friday evening, a house opposite St. Andrew's Cathedral, George-street, occupied by a dealer named Whitebread, was entered during his absence, by bursting in the door, and jewellery to the value of £25, four £1 notes, and some silver, carried off. There is reason to believe, that Whitebread was watched off the premises.

PILFERING AND PETTY LARCENIES.—About eight o'clock on Wednesday morning, three silver table spoons, marked with Captain Ashmores's initials, were stolen from his residence, Kent-street, opposite the Gas Works. Between five and six o'clock on the same evening an old offender, named Elizabeth Jackson, was given in custody to a constable for stealing a goose, the property of the Quarter Master, of the 99th Regiment; she was brought before the Police Court on Saturday, and remanded. On Thursday, about midday, Thomas Burke, an itinerant fruiterer and vendor of penny newspapers, was apprehended for stealing two pieces of sponge and a brush, the property of Mr. Aspinwall, Perruquier and Perfumer, George-street. He was brought up on Saturday, and also remanded. On Thursday evening the keys of M'Donnell's public-house were stolen, as is supposed, for the purpose of gaining admission after the family had gone to sleep. On Friday, an infant aged three years, named Wood, residing with its parents in Prince-street, went out to the door at three o'clock, and on returning home to its mother she discovered that it had been stripped of the greater portion of its clothing. About ten o'clock on Friday forenoon, Stephen Barnett, a barber, residing in Parramatta-street, gave George Capstick, residing in the same neighbourhood, in charge for stealing a barber's variegated pole from his door. Capstick had his own premises searched, but the pole was not there, nor has it been discovered in any other place;—as there was no evidence to show that Capstick knew anything about "the tree whereon Mambrino's helmet hung," he was discharged. About seven o'clock on Friday evening, a man named Cutts, employed as a waiter at Edwards's Australian Coffee-house, was given into the custody of the police by his employer for stealing a bundle of cigars; when charged with the act, before the constable arrived, Cutts asserted he had purchased the cigars at Mr. Toogood's; on enquiry, neither of the Messrs. Toogood had any recollection of selling a bundle of cigars, but they or some of their assistants might have done so. There was a fellow-servant named Philip Pellott in the same employ with Cutts, who had seen Cutts leave the house for a minute or two, and return, but he had not time to go where he said he had bought the cigars, when Pellott saw him with them in his hand; on the constable being brought in, Cutts accused Pellott of picking his pocket of about seven shillings and sixpence, which he had got from Edwards; the pair were both apprehended and lodged in the watch-house. Cutts was placed first at the bar, on Saturday, when, after the case had been gone into, as Edwards could not swear that the cigars were his property, he was discharged. Pellott was then brought up, when Cutts swore so distinctly to his having taken the money from him, that Pellott was committed to take his trial; Edwards and Cutts then returned home, when the latter was told to be off about his business; he went to get his clothes, and was followed by the mistress, who saw him put his hand under his bed and pull something out; she instantly sprang on him, seized his hand, and held it fast until assistance came to take it from him, when it turned out to be 7s. 6d. rolled up in the handkerchief described by him, as that in which the money (7s. 6d.) was when Pellott took it from him, and for stealing which Pellott had just been committed. Mr. Edwards instantly returned to the Police Court, stated what had been discovered, and immediately returned with a constable to secure Cutts; but before he and the constable got back, the fellow had got away, and was seen making in great haste for Woolloomooloo. As a matter of course, Pellot was on affidavit of the above discovery set at liberty. About twelve o'clock on Thursday night, as a seaman named Ashford, was passing along Clarence-street, two men dressed like soldiers came up to him, and insisted on his going down Erskine-street with them to get a glass of grog, he complied, and when about half-way down the latter street they suddenly set upon him, tripped up his heels, and rifled his pockets of 2s. 6d., with which they made their escape.

ODD FELLOWS.—This day being the anniversary of the Manchester Unity, or Independent Order of Odd Fellows' Lodge, in New South Wales, the officers and members of it, together with those of the following lodges, viz:—The Loyal Strangers' Refuge; the Fountain of Refuge; the Wandering Minstrels; the St. Johns; the Victoria; and the Fountain of Friendship, will attend Divine service this forenoon, in St. Philip's Church, when the Rev. Dr. Cowper will officiate. The procession will start from Gray's, Light-house, Bathurst and Sussex streets.

CATTLE AT THE MAURITIUS.—Twelve cows from Swan River realised £117 16s. nett. Messrs. Davy and Robinson, a highly respectable firm, address Messrs. Samson, the shippers, as follows:—"If cows with calves by their sides, and docile, had been sent, higher prices would have been obtained. A second year's calf would have been preferred. They would always bring £22. They do not object to give for a good and handsome cow at times £10 more. The horses sent were adapted for agricultural purposes; these are not wanted. Horses for harness, paired, if you can value them with you at £30, will pay well. Half-bred ponies, entire, will sell."

SALE OF FARMS.—We are requested to call the particular attention of graziers and settlers generally, to the important sale of seven farms, situate within a short distance of Yass, which takes place on Thursday, the 27th instant, at Mr. Blackman's Mart, George-street, at twelve o'clock precisely. These valuable farms are well adapted for homesteads, each of them possessing an abundance of rich land, suitable for cultivation, and also that which is equally valuable, a constant supply of water, being in part bounded by the rivers Murrumbidgee and Yass, and in the immediate neighbourhood of extensive runs for cattle and sheep.—Communicated.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY IN HYDE PARK.—Between eight and nine o'clock, as Mr. Thomas M'Culloch was crossing Hyde Park in company with a female friend, they were suddenly attacked by two men, one of them armed with a large open clasp knife, who subjected both of them to a search, but got nothing. On the fellows making off, an alarm was given, and one of the men captured. He was brought up before the Police Court on Thursday, under the name of Henry Eddington, free by servitude, and remanded till Saturday, when he was committed to take his trial.

ROBBERY ON FORT AND PRINCE-STREET PASS.—On Thursday night, a native of Calcutta, named Friday, had occasion to go between Prince-street and Windmill-street, with a bundle of his clothes, and accordingly went by the path on the east of Trinity church; when near the corner of the ascent that turned into Prince-street, he was suddenly attacked by a number of men, who knocked him down, forced his bundle from him, and made off with it. It contained four pair of trousers, two shirts, a waistcoat, and a jacket.
